

1 ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

 A directory structure corresponding to a plurality of applications is formed. Items of identification information are given to predetermined 5 directories of the directory structure, respectively, the items of identification information being used for identifying the plurality of applications, respectively, the plurality of applications corresponding to the predetermined directories, 10 respectively. Management is performed so that an application of the plurality of applications corresponding to a directory of the predetermined directories is selected in accordance with an item of the items of identification information given to the 15 directory of the predetermined directories, when the directory of the predetermined directories is selected.

20

25

30

35